INTRODUCTION

Drug abuse is a significant and growing national problem. All evidence indicates that its growth is most rapid in our youth where yearly it involves progressively younger age groups. It is a pervasive problem which affects all segments of society and currently is increasing at a faster rate in the suburban areas than in the cities. It is hoped that this display will present useful information, stimulate questions, and provide assistance in coping with an issue which endangers us all, particularly the young.

Office of Medical Services

The Physicians of the Office of Medical Services (OMS) believe that Drug Abuse is a clear danger which warrants the serious attention of every citizen. It is unnecessary for any employee of this Agency to remain uninformed on any facet of the drug problem. The OMS as a service to our employees is prepared to discuss the medical aspects, prevention, complications, and treatment of drug abuse with either individuals or groups who wish further information. Arrangements may be made through the OMS Consultative Services, extension
